Bonds Up, Wheat Down
Majesty Meets Bolsheviks
No Light Without Heat
Who "Founded" America?

By Arthur Brisbane

Comment 1922 Star Columnar
Bonds were higher—there is plenty of money looking for investment—stocks were irregular, with money lending to speculation at 5 per cent. Cotton was strong, thanks to Mississippi floods.

"It's an ill wind." What was weak—worry, as usual for farmers. Foreign exchange was high, nearly all foreign money went up. German must of all. The world expects good to come out of Genoa—and that's the best news man's story for the week's first business day. For seventeen days in succession, Wall Street has bought and sold more than one million shares of stock. It is a boom, or a mirage? Invest, but don't gamble.

Bolshevik delegates at Genoa visit the Italian King, in "bourgeois" raiment. They dine with that King and the capitalist world wonders—foolishly. Tschernin and Krasin see in the Italian King the aftermath of successful revolution. They remember the fighter, Garibaldi, the teachers Mazzini and Cavour. They see the King of Italy reigning in Rome, where the Pope once reigned. They reign in Moscow and Petrograd, where the Czar once ruled.

Perhaps they say "that King is beneficiary of a revolution—why not set with him and learn how our children will live in Russia later?"

Important, fascinating, is the effort to get light without heat, such as the fiery carries with her. Scientists work on the problem everywhere. A Japanese drops in the ocean beds of fishes as he and his little boat is covered with thousands of tiny shell fish, "cynidia," which contain the light giving "bioluminescence." With these creatures, Professor Harvey of Princeton produces the "cold light," experimentally. Germans also produce it. It will take a race of scientists to make it practical. Once perfected, the ocean would supply light forever, unlimited, no coal or oil necessary, for our lighting, forevermore.

But, young gentlemen that would like to find "work without heat," there is no such thing as light without heat in reality. All light involves waste of energy, loss of heat, in quantities however slight. Greater efficiency gives more light for less power. We get today from a ton of coal sixty-eight times as much electric light as we got fifteen years ago. (You have noticed such difference in the cost of light.)

No light without heat, no good work without heat and fatigue. Now, as six hundred years ago, when Dante wrote it, you must "work as nature works, in fire" and burn up as you work, if you want results.

Lady Astor, charming young lady, objects to the rewriting of American history, under auspices of a Catholic organization, Knights of Columbus. She says, if correctly quoted, "A lot of these foreigners in America forget the foundation of America. It was founded by Protestants and in the Protestant faith." Just who FOUNDED America, it is hard to say. There is no doubt that it was FOUNDED by Columbus.

He was of the Catholic religion. His mother, according to the best historical evidence, was a Jewess. Some relatives believed in his trip. She concealed her religion, as did others, because to confess it meant to be burned alive just then. Why murmur about religion? One religious friend objected to the statement that a Jewess was Columbus' mother. If the Lord chose a Jewish girl to be the mother of His own son, why not choose a Columbus mother?

A Jew from Russia, name hard to spell or pronounce, changes it to something easier, to help him in the business struggle—and is criticized. Consider Lord Leopold Lobenstein. Just dead, cousin of the English King. His name was Battenberg, meaning "Batten Mountains." His father was a German Prince. The name was changed at the King's request. It might sound better to English ears. If a King's cousin, why not a worried Jewish immigrant?

A chauffeur, married to a grand opera singer, came for a divorce, alleging that he was compelled to "button her up the back." He wants the divorce because he is "no ladies' maid." Poor excuse for a divorce, but judges will listen to it. It is the foolishness of man that comes from the front, back in the neck, and down the shoulder, hidden, when everywhere.

What man demands, foolishly, in the latest fashion, is to be "buttoned up the back." Some day, with her mind more fully equipped, woman's dress will be one piece of white, from neck, put on over the head, like a nightgown, with a hole in the top, and a belt around the waist. One pull at the belt, and she's dressed.

But that perfection of simplicity is far off. Meanwhile, chauffeurs that marry opera singers and all the inferior acts must be patient. There is a month's wait to clothes. Revere, don't criticize, when you don't understand.

LEON G. MORRILL

Mrs. Morrill Changed Story of Time Spent at Apartment in Evening

How big Leon G. Morrill and two detectives, smashed into a Brookline apartment and found Mrs. Florence R. Morrill gazing in her nightgown and Seth K. Chase in another part of the house, was told today by Harold P. Smith, a Boston business man, when he took the witness stand in the Morrill divorce suit in the Superior Court at Dedham.

This was one of the high lights in the resumption of the sixth day of Morrill's divorce suit in which he seeks custody of two children and annuities of $2,000 and $1,000 per year.

The courtroom was again thronged with members of the smart set of Boston and Brookline. Mrs. Morrill was dressed in a gown of the dramatic, bold of the red.

Attorney William G. Thompson, counsel for Chase, actually attacked Smith's testimony, but the witness refused to be shaken on the essential details.

Mr. Smith, brother of Brookline, now living in Norwood, testified that he was an old friend of the Morrill family. In 1912 he lived at No. 22 Dwight street, Brookline, he said. He did not know Seth K. Chase, he said, at that time.

The night of August 4, 1921, he said, at that time.

WATCH PRESENTED TO MAYOR'S SECRETARY

Michael J. Ward, secretary to Mayor Curley, was sporting a new watch today. It's said gold and has a chain. More than four hundred friends of the popular secretary were present at a banquet in O'Connell Hall, Hibernian Building, Roxbury, when Mayor Curley presented him with the token of esteem. The speakers were the Rev. Fr. John P. Killen, Congressman Peter P. Taggart, Mayor Quinn of Cambridge, Theodore Glynn and Luke Shindler.

Poland Says Pelletier, Told Him He Intended to Bring Proceedings

Former District Attorney Joseph C. Pelletier had planned to bring impeachment proceedings against Supreme Court Justice Edward P. Pierce, it was brought out today at a legislative hearing on a petition to remove the judge for alleged official misconduct.

This testimony was given by Attorney George M. Poland, one of the petitioners for the judge's removal, and who took the stand as a witness for the State.

At the close of Attorney Poland's testimony Attorney Herbert Parker, of Justice Pierce's counsel, asked a series of questions aimed to show that the former district attorney was still backing the move to oust the Justice.

Attorney Poland declared he had talked with the former District Attorney following a Grand Jury hearing on affairs involving the Henry Wood Bros. estate and Attorney W. Edwin Usher, counsel for the property.

Attorney Poland was acting as counsel for Henry to the act.

SAID ELDER WIFE.

"Pelletier asked me what I intended to do as a result of things brought out before the Grand Jury," testified Attorney Poland. "I told him I intended to bring charges against Justice Pierce before the General Court."

"He asked me why I didn't demand his impeachment. I told him I thought it would be best to go about the thing by laying the whole matter before the Legislature," testified Attorney Poland. "I told him before impeachment proceedings him self. He asked me if that would interfere with my plans. I told him no."

"A few days later Mr. Pelletier asked me to be his personal counsel in the impeachment proceedings, but I declined."

When Curley told of an interview he had with Justice Pierce in which he said the judge described Mr. Usher as coming to him one "evening on his shoulders" because of "his troubles."

Sentence was suspended, with the understanding that Mitchell keep away from his mother and support his own family. He has been living with his mother for twenty months, although he has a wife and two children. It was alleged he beat her when she told him to return to his family. Mitchell said the mother was his and that he had merely escorted it to his mother's keeping.

MARRIED WOMAN IS GRILLED

Winchester Police Again Visit Brewster's Home, Seeking Clues in Murder

The trail in the search for the slayer of Ralph W. Brewster, night ticket agent at Winchester, today shifted back to Pittsfield, N. H., when Sergeant McCauley of the Winchester police and a State detective went there to interview a married woman in connection with the case.

The officers were in guarded tale phone conversations with Chief of Police William H. McIntosh of Winchester several times and prospects of an arrest were said to be good.

The trip was made on information given the police by John A. Langan, who filed Brewster's job at the Winchester Station six weeks before Brewster appeared on the scene.

Langan brought the woman into the case while undergoing another still grilling at the hands of the Winchester and State police.

The officers left for Pittsfield on the 8 a. m. train, to be joined in the little New Hampshire town by the state detectives Kirin and Stokes.

Many signposts was attached to this trip by police officers, who were return, as to just what connection the woman was said to have in the case by Langan.

KILLED FOR GRUDGE.

She is said to have been a friend of the latter.

These New Hampshire developments caused a revival of police interest in train movements through Winchester the night of the murder.

The New Hampshire train by which it is believed the murderer went to Winchester reached that town over.

MARRIED WOMAN IS INTERVIEWED IN MURDER OF BREWSTER

TRAIL IN MYSTERY IS AGAIN SOUGHT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE

When at 11:30 p. m. it left for the station at 11:35 p. m. and Manchester at 11:45 p. m. It was a daily freight train and was carrying a large amount of freight. The train was stopped at the station at 11:55 p. m. and the freight was unloaded. The train then left for the station at 12:05 p. m. and arrived at the station at 12:15 p. m.

Only a few persons could have known the exact time of the passage of the freight through Winchester, says the authorities and the fact may narrow the investigation.

Another development today was elimination of the mistaken identity theory by Chief McInnis of Winchester.

The chief stated that he is now satisfied that the man who was killed was not the man who was killed.

Two other railroad detectives to day made a thorough search of the archives on the Ramsey estate, over the railroad station, for the revolver used by the slayer. It is believed the latter may have thrown the weapon away in his flight from the scene following the crime.

By a process of elimination the officials have cleared all residents of Winchester and the neighborhood of any suspicion. Dr. Rolla B. Bar, a dentist, and John A. Brewster, a farmer, were questioned by the chief and representatives of the district attorney's office, are held entirely harmless, the chief said.

Sergeant McCauley and a detachment of 100 officers were expected to leave Winchester for New Hampshire sometime before noon.

CHIEF IN SECRET CALL.
It is believed that the chief received extremely important information late last night, when he was called into a secret conference by

Sergeant McCauley of the Winchester force. Immediately after this conference the chief put in a long distance telephone call, plugging the line in himself through the police station switchboard and giving the number direct to the main operator instead of following his customary procedure of giving the number he wanted to the switchboard.

Peace Won't Last, Says Chief of English Staff

By International News Service. London, April 25.—Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson, chief of the imperial general staff of Great Britain, in a speech here today declared:

"No reflecting persons seeing the state of the world today, can believe that we are in for a long period of peace."

The strange man who, wearing a soft hat, dressed in a dark suit, and with a white shirt and a white tie, was the man who was killed.

Carey, who is a citizen years old, was in the waiting alley on the night in question and, according to his story, he watched the stranger closely.

The man made repeated inquiries about the time of trains for Boston and also inquired concerning the man who was killed.

Young Carey said he noticed, over the stranger's shoulder, that he was giving all of his attention to the schedule of trains from Boston to Manchester and Portsmouth. He seemed extremely nervous. Carey said.

The officers succeeded in catching the stranger at 9:30 on the night of the murder through the statement of Detective Flowers.

WORLD 'HAVE KILLED.'
"If I had had a gun, I would have killed you," was Ward's alleged remark to Purdon Hines when they reached the police station.

"That's a nice way to talk to a man who could have shot you in the back of the head," retorted the policeman.

Another point resolved in Ward's arrest today of particular interest to Winchester was that he was a resident of the city and had been in the city for some time.

He is described as a tall, thin man, about 35 years of age, with dark hair and a high forehead. He was wearing a dark suit and a white shirt.

When searched, police say, a burglar's outfit was found on him.

SEIZED AS R. R. BANDIT IN LYNN STATION

Charles A. Ward, 35-year-old self-proclaimed railroad bandit and burglar, according to the Lynn police, was captured having the Star train station today after a fight with a police officer and was charged.

Following his arrest word was flashed to the Winchester police and detectives went to Lynn to examine the prisoner. The fact that Ralph W. Brewster, Winchester station agent, was murdered in a railroad station and Ward was today captured leaving one made a connection that Winchester authorities considered of value.

DRAWS BUNCH KNIFE.
Ward, according to the Lynn police, had been in the railroad station and was waiting for a train. He was then seen by a police officer and he drew a bunch knife and threatened to kill the officer.

INTENDED TO IMPEACH PIERCE

Had presided as a master over a number of cases involving Mr. Lyby and the Wood estate and just before the case was to come up in court for denunciation.

PIERCE URGED HASTE.
The cases were to come up in Superior Court, testified Attorney Pierce, but Mr. Lyby, who had been in the case for some time, urged haste.

The master found the defendant had no intention of deceiving the public.

Mr. Lyby's report on the hearings and informed him that Mr. Lyby's draft report was a complete whitewash for Mr. Lyby, who told the report originally had been in favor of the plaintiffs.

"When I said the report was whitewashed Judge Pierce said, 'That's happened before.' The judge then asked me to read the report and I did so. He then said, 'That's a nice way to talk to a man who could have shot you in the back of the head,' retorted the policeman."

"The judge then said, 'I have always been friendly. There is no reason why I should continue to be so. I told him I loved him. I was friendly with all the court justices. I was troubled last Spring when you went to Chief Justice Rugg about these cases,' the judge then stated. 'I think you should have come to me first. The Chief Justice came and told me I must not sit on the cases.'"

The witness then started to describe his talk with Chief Justice Rugg, but objections by Attorney Barker of counsel for the defense were upheld by Chairman Hardy of the committee.

Former Mr. Lipsky Has Right to Be Mr. Libby

The Supreme Court has confirmed the report of a master in the case of the Libby, McNeill and Libby Company against Samuel Libby, who is known as the Libby, McNeill and Libby Company.

On February 11, 1920, Mr. Lipsky filed a petition asking that his name be changed, on the ground that an American name would help him in his business.

The master found the defendant had no intention of deceiving the public.

Mr. Lyby's report on the hearings and informed him that Mr. Lyby's draft report was a complete whitewash for Mr. Lyby, who told the report originally had been in favor of the plaintiffs.

MAYOR CURLEY URGES ACTION ON 5-Ct. FARE

Points Out Real Issue as He Sees it in Letter Sent to Speaker Young

Mayor Curley took another walk on the afternoon at the Boston Elevated Railway Company in his fight for a five-cent fare.

In a letter to B. Loring Young, speaker of the House of Representatives, the Mayor says the situation is known to the people and the Legislature and the opinion of the attorney-general is not necessary.

Calling attention of Speaker Young to the present case, the Mayor said: "It is this issue, as many, including even the Governor, have either failed to perceive or have ignored it."

NAMES REAL ISSUE.
His letter in part follows: "The present issue is not whether it was necessary or expedient to grant relief in 1915 in order to prepare for the Electric Railway."

"It is not whether the increase of transportation charges be paid by car riders or the bus or the public control of fares is doing all that may be done to bring about a five-cent fare. We may as well assume, knowing the character of these gentlemen, that they are doing their best, under the provisions of the law by which they are bound."

The question now before us is quite a different one, and we must not permit it to be either confused or ignored.

"The issue which now confronts the Legislature and the people of this Commonwealth is whether a contract with the State, which has been secured by fraud, which has been incorporated in a statute passed by means of bribery and corruption, should be enforced."

QUESTION OF FRAUD.
"The question is not even whether there was fraud and corruption in the Legislature. The evidence on that subject is before the people. They know the Legislature were not doing their best, under the provisions of the law by which they are bound."

BILL OF CONTROL RABBIT DRAFTED

Washington, April 25.—Federal regulation of all radio communication as approved by Secretary of Commerce Hoover is provided in a bill being drafted by Representative White of Maine for introduction in the House next week. It was announced today.

The legislation has been in the making for nearly two years. After the preliminary draft of the bill was completed by White he submitted it to the Department of Commerce, where many changes were made by government radio experts.

The remarkable growth and development of wireless communication during the past two years has made federal regulation of radio a public necessity, White said today.

He stated that his bill was intended to strengthen and perfect the law of 1912, pointing out that more than a million individual amateur radio outfits have been sold in the U. S. since that time.

Forecasters Smith's prediction was: Fair tonight. Wednesday unsettled, generally fair. Not much change in temperature. Moderate, variable winds. There may be showers.

NO REASON GIVEN.
No reason was given. She was not wanted, and that was all.
Monday the rumor spread throughout the city that the Rev.
Mr. Archibald would resign his pulpit as a result. This was denied by Deacon A. M. Derry.

"There is no controversy between the pastor and the deacons," declared Mr. Derry.
"The deacons decided that it would be better not to have a movie star speak from the pulpit."
"Personally I feel that while Miss Pearson might have been perfectly right, it wouldn't have looked well to have her speaking from our pulpit when she was appearing in a local theatre."

It was nothing about the character or reputation of Miss Pearson.
ON VERGE OF SPLIT.
Meanwhile members of the church are on the verge of a split over the refusal to let the movie star speak.

Mayor Bourque in apologetic letter cannot tell you how sorry I am for the rebuke that you have suffered in our city. I want to apologize in my humble way and tell you that the city is with you.
The people of this city love you and we all feel badly over the unfortunate affair. I hope you will not leave it in bad against us when you leave. It is indeed unfortunate.
Miss Pearson bitterly resented the action of the deacons.
"They may have stepped me out from speaking at the church," she said,
"but I feel that I have won a great victory now. The deacons do not know when the Mayor and the people of the city are with me."

TELLS OF HER WORK.
"It is men such as these who are hinder the progress of Christendom. They do not want the world to progress. They have the old-fashioned idea that the actress is all bad.
They are mistaken. But you can not tell them so. They know it all," said Miss Pearson.

"I am working harder than they
for the advancement of Christianity.
Try and see if you can't get them
There are some wonderful men and women on the staff. They not give them credit. But they are not modern. They are old-fashioned. They with their old-fashioned ideas of right and wrong, would give me no credit unless he had a face as long as a tiddler."
"I am working to put the stage on the highest possible plane. I am speaking in the churches whenever I have the chance. I am trying to get the churches and their members acquainted with the better side of the stage. I am trying to advance the work of the stage in picturing true life."

IRISH GENERAL IS SHOT DEAD AFTER VICTORY

London, April 25.—Workers of Fitary had seized a carriage factory and hoisted the red flag. A new outburst of fighting is reported in the Ballinacree Road of Anaghurist forced farmers to evacuate their houses. Railway lines have been fired upon.

Army in Dublin: "The general was Increased Hope for Peace in Ireland

By International News Service.
Dublin, April 25.—Irish people today were more hopeful of ultimate peace between warring factions, following yesterday's death of the Irish general.

The only untoward events were the reported arrest of Michael Hall by British troops and the murder of Resident John C. Hartford.

There were well founded reports that the Irish Republican Army agreed to a truce with the British Army. It is possible that the Irish Republican Army will be allowed to remain in the country.

The reported arrest of Michael Hall was a surprise. He was a well known figure in the Irish Republican movement. He was arrested while he was in the company of other Irishmen.

There was a report that the British Army was preparing to move into the country. It was said that the British Army was preparing to move into the country.

GARLANDS ARE RECOGNIZABLE BY BABY

Free Love Millionaire and Wife
Are Made Happy by Visit of the Stork

Charles A. Garland, North Carver industrial, millionaire and exponent of free love, and his wife, Mary Wrenn Garland, have been recognized by their baby.

This was learned today when it became known that Mrs. Garland had given birth to a bouncing baby boy at Thomas House, Massachusetts, where a General Hospital, Garland who had declared to had given up his wife for Lillian Courant, Philadelphia, are shocked, was at the hospital
when his son was born and attended extreme joy.

With the advent of a young son to his name, the eccentric millionaire who scoffed at the laws of the church and the land not many months ago acted in a very ordinary daddy.

One was his disinterest in free love and all that. He was father of a young son. And when the bright sunshine of the infant's room of Mrs. Garland at the Phillips House in Thomas House, Massachusetts, the baby was found a whole bunch of real rags in the arms of the mother.

It was also learned today that Mrs. Garland had been living for part of the time of late at the little house in North Carver, Massachusetts. In the winter of 1921, when she was with her husband, she was the wife of Lillian Courant, Philadelphia, are shocked, was at the hospital
when his son was born and attended extreme joy.

Then he visited her frequently and for some time past he has been visiting his time between his little house in the North Carver woods and the luxurious home of his wife in Dedham. His visits with his wife have become much longer as the springtime approaches.

The past few weeks Mrs. Garland was very ill. For a time her life was in danger. The young millionaire is said to have shown great concern and worry and was watching his wife whom he reputed a short time ago.

One of the family will talk of the affairs of the young couple, and one will be heard a word about Lillian Courant. A new life has been to replace the free love. It was a new life.

SHERIFF SHOTS FLEEING R. I. PICKET

Striker Brought to Ground by Fifth Bullet in Clash at Pawtucket Mill

Pawtucket, April 25.—Charles Almetta, a fifteen-year-old striker doing pocket duty at the Pawtucket Striking Company, was shot by a deputy sheriff today while fleeing to escape arrest following a fight between strike-breakers, pickets and strikers.

Five shots were fired at the man, the fifth striking the ground, bounding and entering the base of his skull.

Witnesses stated that Almetta ran more than 100 yards before he dropped to the ground.

He was taken in a driving condition to court and there charged with the death of Lewis Mathias of Wickenburg street, Providence.

He first pleaded not guilty, then retracted and pleaded guilty. He was given sixty days in jail.

In a semi-conscious condition he was then taken to the hospital, where his name was placed on the danger list.

Augustus W. Delaney, also arrested during the trouble, was held in $500 for trial May 5 on the charge of revelling.

According to the police Deputy Sheriff Lewis of Providence interrupted a fight between pickets and strike-breakers at the entrance to the mill.

Almetta fled. The sheriff ordered him to halt. He refused and five shots were fired after him, the fifth bringing him to the ground.

Taking part in the fight were a dozen strike-breakers and strikers doing picket duty.

Several sustained minor injuries when attempting to resist a force of deputy sheriffs under Nelson Pratt of Woonsocket.

The Central Trades and Labor Union appointed a committee to visit Governor Sam Sison today and was told him to order State troopers back to strike duty at the mill, where a strike has been in operation for two months.

State Mediator Makes
Inquiries at Lawrence

Lawrence, April 25.—Fred Knight, member of the State Board of Conciliation and Arbitration, was in Lawrence today making an investigation of the strike situation.

President McMahon of the U. T. W. left Lawrence today for Pawtucket, R. I., to investigate the shooting of a striker there, it was learned.

Two mass meetings were called by the One Big Union today. The first was on the South Lawrence Common, following which the strike was sent to the Stoneham Mills, where picket lines are being concentrated. The second mass meeting was called on the city common.

The purpose of the second mass meeting was to arouse interest of the workers of the American Wool Company mills in regard to the plan of the strikers for an increase in wages.

Fresh From Paris Latest From Marie Suzanne

Paris, France.
THIS mode of the season accepts sleeves of any width at all, and sometimes a t a wider they are the smarter the effect they give. Carrel designs a daytime frock of tulle and cloth, and gives it armholes as deep as the bodice itself. This frock is just a little suggestive of the redingote, the coat combining midnight blue cloth and buff silk figured in a little plaid of plain blue silk. A row of buttons lines the slit from throat to hem.

A BUFF cloth frock banded with lines of blue draws half of its surprise to the bodice, and a handkerchief ring at the girdle and continues it as a sash-band below the hips. The cuffs and yoke are decorated with a straight section of the goods, so that the bands run the length of the skirt and the length of the lower section, with interesting results.

ASK DISCHARGE PLAN TO SPEND COL. MAJOR $3,900,000

By Associated Press.
Washington, April 25.—Discharge from the army of Lieutenant Colonel Duane K. Major, former chief of staff of the 26th (Central Postal) Division in France and now aide to General Pershing, was demanded today by a delegation of twenty-two New England National Guard officers, headed by former Brigadier General Edward L. Logan and Charles H. Cole.

Spoken for by the delegation, which appeared before the committee sitting in executive session on the recently submitted nomination of Major to a colonelcy, were said to have charged that officer with unfit for command, insubordinate and otherwise not worthy of a place in the commissioned personnel of the army.

Another reported charge made against Lieutenant Colonel Major was that he is prejudiced against the National Guard. As chief of staff of the 26th Division, Colonel Major served under Major General Edwards.

It was argued by the delegation that the committee sitting in executive session on the recently submitted nomination of Major to a colonelcy, were said to have charged that officer with unfit for command, insubordinate and otherwise not worthy of a place in the commissioned personnel of the army.

New York, April 25.—Reports that Geraldine Farrar, who resigned from the Metropolitan Opera Company Saturday, after sixteen years with that organization, would join David Belasco next season were confirmed when it became known that she would be starred in a new play, especially selected by Mr. Belasco.

It is understood that Miss Farrar will start on a concert tour next Fall and continue it until Christmas, after which time she will join Mr. Belasco.

Two residents of Boston, a man and a woman, committed suicide today.

"I am going to make away with myself," said Mrs. Catherine King, fifty-five years old, to other tenants at No. 1 Foster street in the North End.

They laughed. Mrs. King had made such threats before. Two hours later her body, floating face upward, was recovered by harbor police from the water near Battery Wharf.

Albert Robbs, thirty-five, committed suicide by inhaling gas, in his room in a lodging house at No. 522 Tremont street, South End.

John Duffy, a friend, forced the door of Robbs' room to find his man stretched on the bed with a gas tube in his mouth. The other end of the tube was connected with a wall jet.

ROB JEWELLER OF $150,000 IN GEMS

Baltimore, April 25.—Max Bernstein, wholesale jeweler, shortly after he left his home near Druid Hill Park here today, was held up and robbed of a brief case containing jewelry and diamonds valued at $150,000.

Bernstein left his home by a rear exit and when two blocks away was attacked by two armed bandits, who beat him over the head with the butts of their revolvers and slashed his hands until he dropped the case.

The bandits seized the case and its contents, ran a short distance and jumped into a waiting automobile.

LOUD-SOUNDING FRIENDLY

By A. H. HOGG
The owner of a radio-phonograph set with a pair of earphones to hear through has a problem on his hands when the rest of the family, a few neighbors and one or two friends drop in to see if they are immune to the bite of the radio bug.

The expert of dividing the party into couples and pairing one of the phones to each does not furnish very interesting entertainment for those who are left out.

This is one reason why radio dealers report a heavy demand for amplifiers and loud-speakers. If you are so strong enough to bring in concerts that hurt the ears when the phones are clamped on, you will do well to invest in one of the loud-speakers that are on the market. These are sturdy forms of horn, similar to the old-fashioned phonograph horns, which will enable a larger group to hear in.

When the music and voice sound just comfortably strong in the neighborhood when they are against your ears, it is unlikely that you will be able to use a loud speaker without some qualification.

TRY CHIPPING BOWL.
If you do not wish to buy a loud speaker there are several expedients that you can perform with various odds and ends you will find around the house. You may hit on just the right device to make the room with the broadcast.

One of the best things to try is an ordinary wooden chopping bowl of the pre-war kind, such as our mothers used to make the filling of mince pie with. Put one of the phones, carefully under the bowl and slowly bring it up, keeping it in contact with the rim of the bowl. At a certain point, the sound of the "focus" of the bowl, and the sound will be audible.

If this doesn't suit you, try one of the bowl-shaped, inverted light shades, a large pitcher, an automobile headlight, or anything you can think of.

Several ingenious fans have used the phonograph to play the sound into the room. When this is done it is necessary to remove the speaker and turn down, and replace them with the ear phone. This is generally very satisfactory, as the phonograph sound has been especially constructed to build up resonance and tone.

RADIO AS EVANGELIST.
Missionary bodies are considering the use of radio to spread religion, and teaching to remote sections of the world. A single station, with a few tubes would cover a large section, and one missionary would be able to reach all parts of his district, and give encouragement to native converts. Considerable work has been done in this line.

Everybody who is interested in radio is invited to attend the first meeting of the Worcester Radio Club, which will be held next Thursday in the hall of the West End Hotel, No. 45 Chambers street. Those unable to attend are invited to get in touch with Louis Katz, No. 129 Chambers street.

PLEDGE 114,000 FOR JEWISH RELIEF

New Subscriptions Are Announced at City Club Luncheon

Nearly $114,000 in pledges and new subscriptions, totaling the $115,000 raised at the City Club dinner on Sunday night and $15,000 raised yesterday, was reported by the chairman of the committee in charge of the drive for the relief of starving Jews in Eastern and Central Europe, at the first luncheon of the drive held at the City Club.

The drive opened yesterday, with thirty-five hundred voluntary workers divided into 250 teams canvassing the Jewish population of the city in every business and profession as well as the residential sections of Greater Boston.

Albert W. Katzenbach, chairman of the city division of the drive, who presided at the luncheon, at which leaders and heads of many firms in business and professions attended, called a number of instances in which girls in the North End were giving out a week had already contributed $10 and more to the drive.

The speakers were Felix Vorenberg, who read and passed a list of resolutions on the death of Ferdinand Strauss, one of the most active workers in every line of welfare work pertaining to charitable causes; George Schneider, and Nathan Sherdon, after which the captains of the teams reported.

The drive has for its slogan, "Suppose you were starving." The Massachusetts quota is $125,000. The subscriptions reported today were $114,000 from Edwin A. Crozier, proprietor and publisher of the Boston Post. Other subscriptions ranged from a few hundred to $25,000, with a large number yet to be heard from who were unable to be present.

Headquarters of the drive committee is at No. 219 Washington street.

DOCTOR SAYS GIRL DIED OF NATURAL CAUSES

New York, April 25.—Dr. Benjamin Schwartz, chief medical examiner, declared after an autopsy today that five-year-old Lillian Givner, whose body was found in a small room of a house in the rear of her Houston street home, had not been slain, as the police reported, but had died of natural causes. George Wavell, who was found in an adjoining room, had been held in a charge of homicide in connection with her death, although he protested his innocence.

MANICURE GIRL ARRESTED AS A "FIXER"

Miss Whelan, nineteen-year-old manicure, was arrested in her shop at No. 42 Court street today, charged with manhandling without a license and with making "dates" for girls who are to meet her.

She is probably the youngest prisoner who ever stood in a Massachusetts court to answer the second charge, which is a grave one. Parson McCuskey of the Court Square station, was the principal witness against her. He said Miss Whelan made a "date" for him to meet Ella Moore, ex Young, who lived with her in Suite No. 4, No. 11 Newbold street, Brighton.

McCuskey stated in evidence that he went to the address and stayed long enough to convince himself that Miss Whelan was actually acting as a matchmaker for Miss Young and for him she encountered in her manicure shop. He arrested Miss Moore and the junior of the house when the latter appeared with a quart of gin.

Miss Whelan was found guilty in Municipal court of practicing manhandling without a license. The more serious charge of acting as a matchmaker was not disposed of, as it may be changed slightly before she is prosecuted.

3 IN COURT FOR CARRYING GUNS

Three men were held into Municipal Court today, charged with carrying concealed weapons, as part of the police campaign to rid the city of gunmen.

Alex Kushnoff, veteran of the Polish Legion of the American Army, provided a novel sort of defendant, explaining he was dependent and carried the gun in anticipation of the day he should decide to commit suicide. Judge Sullivan remanded Special Officer Holmes of Station 2 for taking the gun away and imposed an extended sentence on Alex.

Paquette Foran of the North End was fined $10 for going armed.

Twins Whose Death Offers Puzzle to Physicians

LAVINIA DAY.

Lavinia Day of Spencer street, Chelsea, whose death on Easter Sunday was followed by the death of her sixteen-year-old sister, Elsie, on the day of Lavinia's funeral, died from a shock caused by an attack upon her a few months ago by a Chelsea man.

This assertion was made to a Boston American reporter by Mrs. Sarah A. Day, mother of the twins. Mrs. Day says from the time of the assault Lavinia grew weaker until she took to her bed.

The death of Elsie, the twin sister, is a mystery that puzzles the medical world. Her death certificate gives "sleeping sickness" as the cause, but Mrs. Day declares she was not asleep at all during her illness, and believes the girl died of a broken heart, caused by the death of the other twin, MALADY A PUZZLE.

ELSIE DAY.

Lavinia lay between life and death for five weeks. Four physicians failed to save the girl. While Lavinia was growing weaker Elsie, the other twin, grew pale and was placed in bed under the care of a physician. Hardy had Lavinia been buried when Elsie died.

In the midst of her double grief Mrs. Day told of the attack on Lavinia. And the death record of the dead girl bears out to a large extent the statement of Mrs. Day.

"It was on September 17 that Lavinia went to a neighbor's house to care for her baby while my mother was at the nursing," said Mrs. Day. "We thought she was as safe there as at her own home."

But on that night the unexpected and the terrible happened. Our neighbor's husband—a man we had thought was out of town and whom we thought we could trust with our very lives—tried to attack her.

"My daughter fought him off and escaped. She locked herself in the bathroom of the house until his wife returned."

CONFESSED, MOTHER SAYS.

"She did not tell me until the next day what had happened. Then she told me all. I was afraid to tell my husband for fear he would make something to the man that would get him in trouble."

"At last I took Lavinia to the man's house and in the presence of his wife he confessed."

"I intended to have him arrested, but he had a wife and a baby and two other children. I did not want to put the shame on them. Lavinia, who was very shy, asked me not to make the matter public."

Lavinia changed from a cheerful little girl to a girl who was weighed down with care.

"She grew pale and thin. She fainted at work six weeks ago and when she came home fainted again."

VICTORY COMES TO McCAFFREY IN FOOD CASE

Patrolman George H. McCaffrey, crusader for pure food, won a moral victory today when Abraham Kurland, North End meat dealer, withdrew his appeal from a $100 fine for offering tubercular meat for sale, and paid the money.

Patrolman McCaffrey, who formerly was assigned to the Health Department, took occasion while prosecuting Kurland, to charge that politics were being played in the Health Department, and that Boston families were eating tubercular meat and viral, chemical eggs and mouldy fruits as a result.

He said that an earlier case against Kurland had in some way been misrepresented and that the case in question illustrated the vicious way in which public health was being sacrificed for petty politics.

As a result of McCaffrey's exposure newspapers took up the subject.

BOBBED HAIR IS WELLESLEY PROBLEM

College Girls Puzzled as to Carrying Out of Annual May Day Rite

Wellesley is stumped. Saturday is May Day at the college. One of the annual features of the program which starts at 8 a. m., with the dignified seniors scrubbing the chapel steps, is the kindergarten when hair comes down and skirts go up and everybody plays "kiddle."

But here is the problem this year. How are you going to let hair down when it's already bobbed and hanging?

And how are you going to get skirts up when they've been up these many days.

The dear girls are non-plussed. Seventy they are already in the kindergarten class but dislike to admit it.

Other events scheduled for May Day in the hop-rotting contest when the first girl to reach the chapel from Tower Court Hill behind her bobbing hair is theoretically going to be the first to marry. The annual scramble in this event is all ways noteworthy.

Following morning service septuagies will form the senior numerals on the side of Tower Court Hill.

The afternoon is kindergarten frolic when in the evening the juniors sing their marching song for the first time.

MEAD BURTON

Says Guys With Flat Feet Always Have the Best Laps

While afternoon teas aren't going out of style, lap luncheons are becoming more popular every day. The hostess no longer serves you at the table. You've got to balance a sandwich on one arm and a cup of coffee on the other.

It's hard to eat this way at first, but guys with flat feet make the best lap luncheons. It's always best to invite two or three non-racing guests, so that the knock-kneed fellows and the bow-legged dancers can use their laps.

One absent-minded bird had a dish of ice cream on his left knee and a piece of cake on the right one, and then crossed his legs.

The hostess noticed him flapping around and asked him what the trouble was, and he told her he was suffering from ice cream on the knees.

The only trouble with these luncheons is that you've got to serve some meals, so they won't roll off your lap.

A guy with St. Vitus dance would be out of luck.

A lot of people like dancing with their meals, but you couldn't eat a lap luncheon and shimmy at the same time.

One hostess served clams and the guests started doing a mazel dance.

HOUSE TO SPEED UP SCRAPPING OF 30 SHIPS

By International News Service.

Washington, April 25.—The Congressional fight over the size of the United States navy will pop up again in the House this week.

Members of the House Naval Affairs Committee had their plans to lay for getting quick action on the bill to give the President authority to scrap the thirty capital ships which the government agreed to discuss of under the terms of the naval limitation treaty of the Washington conference.

It was tentatively decided to take the bill up in the House on Thursday.

Almost unanimous approval will be given to the granting of this authority to the President, but the fight over the strength of the navy will be reopened when the "little navy" bill is brought up.

These luncheons are very popular with flat feet men. They have a barfed but no lap.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON BOSTON SOCIETY Vincent Club's Play "Now and Then" Is Big Success

By BETTY ALDEN.

THE only hard thing to decide about "Now and Then" is, "which is the best number?" For the clever musical play being presented this week at the Plymouth Theatre by the Vincent Club is "chuck full" of tuneful melodies, ravishing costumes, brilliant dances and very bee-oo-tiful girls.

When Mary Seymour will be gracious "Scissors Dance" the packed house attending the invitation dress rehearsal yesterday afternoon clapped and then clapped some more. And small wonder, for Miss Seymour's nimble feet performed the most astonishing intricacies and gyrations with a breath-taking ease and grace. But then the youngest daughter of Mrs. Henry Seymour is known for her ability as an eccentric dancer, and many a charity function has owed its success in good measure to her talent.

GENEROUS IN APPLAUSE.

The fashionable audience was more than generous in its applause of the "Dance of the Marionettes" given by the octette, in which the jerky and "wooden" motion of puppets was carried out to perfection. In this number the "men" wore orange and black striped trousers, blue coats, black canes and black tri-colored hats with orange plumes; the dresses worn by the girls were bright yellow, while their bonnets were adorned with orange plumes like those of the men. Taking part in the octette were the Misses Dorothy Neyhart, Ellen P. White, Julie Ripley, Ruth Putnam, Rose Fessenden, Mary P. Atkinson, Laura Taylor and Rosamund Allen.

Customs of bygone days were worn throughout the major portion of the play, for the scene of the first act and part of the second was laid outside an inn in Roxbury during the year 1801.

The second act brought the story—yes, there really was a story—up to the present time, the scene being laid at a country fair near Boston.

QUAINT COSTUMES.

And speaking of the costumes, the dainty "hoop-skirt" dresses worn by the girls taking part in the "Scissors Dance" were particularly quaint and charming. Of the eight "Vi centies" dancing the number, two wore frocks of green organdy trimmed with bands of orchid, the latter, in turn, trimmed with huge rosettes of green organdy; the second pair wore orchid dresses with green bands of orchid rosettes; another couple wore orange with orchid bands and rosettes, while the frocks of the fourth pair were of gray organdy with orchid bands and rosettes.

The "Ballon Dance" led by Mrs. Frederick W. Busk (Harriet Fessenden), had to be repeated several times, for the audience went quite "up in the air" about it.

The seven girls who gave this number looked for all the world like so many dolls stolen from a toy shop, with their white wigs of bobbed hair and their adorable costumes, with full skirts of blue, white and green, and the third pair of the dots of blue, while Mrs. Busk's costume had yellow dots. Each girl carried two balloons to match the color of the dots of her dress, and the effect was not only colorful and striking, but quite original.

DANCE BY BRAGGIOTTIS.

Murmurs of admiration and delight were heard from many corners of the house during "Le Tour de l'Europe" danced by the clever Braggiottis sisters, in which Francesca took the part of a girl. A flame-colored spotlight played on their costumes, which sparkled with sequins. There were equal exclamations of delight when Francesca Braggiotti appeared as the "flame" in the "Candlelight" dance, which she and her sister had arranged.

Another pair of sisters, whose appearance was the cause of much praise, were Louisa Horst and Mrs. Reggie Foster (Frances Horst). Their dance, called "The Siamese Twins," had to be repeated several times.

Each year, of course, there is a drill in the Vincent Club show. Last year it was called the "Rain Drill" and this year it is dubbed in most original fashion by the name "Gollywog Drill." The drill, led by Mrs. Augustus Thordike, Jr., wore soldierlike costumes, carrying small guns and neatly rolled knapsacks.

PHANTOM CHORUS.

The phantom chorus, as it was called, was a fashion show, in which beautiful costumes, ranging from the year 1800 to the present time, were displayed.

All these are only a few of the spoken words so to make up the marvellously revolving wheel of "Now and Then." There are a host of other numbers every bit as clever as the ones which I have mentioned, but it is impossible to write a book in one column, even if most books ought to be written that way.

CAN ARBUCKLE COME BACK IN FILMS?

Many American Readers Urge Another Chance; Write in Your Opinion

Should the Fatty Arbuckle pictures be allowed to come back? What do you say?

Thousands of New England fans believe the film comedian should be given another chance.

Others say emphatically, "No!" Send in your opinion.

Here are some of the latest letters.

"I hope Fatty Arbuckle come back to us. There is no funnier man in the movies. Leave his private life alone and let him come back. To those trying to condemn him I would say: 'People who live in glass houses shouldn't throw stones.' Besides Fatty has been proved innocent of the charges against him. Mrs. A. F. No. 1742 Washington street, Boston."

"LIFE OF MOVIES."

This same view is taken by Margaret M. of Boston. She writes: "I believe it is unfair to ban Fatty Arbuckle's pictures. He was not to blame for what happened at that party. It was an accident. The jury found him innocent and he now should be called to fair play. By all means let his pictures appear again. He is not half so bad as painted by would-be moralists."

"Let those without sin cast the first stone," subscribes a Roxbury Fan. "Certainly, they should let the Fatty Arbuckle pictures come back. The public wants to see them. He is the life of the movies."

From Beverly Mrs. J. E. M. says: "Should Fatty Arbuckle come back? Why not? He has been proved innocent and that is enough. We have bread-and-butter movies people here and we would certainly be glad to see the Arbuckle films return. Let them return."

Here is one who takes another view of the matter.

ASKS ANOTHER CHANCE.

"I hope all self-respecting men and women will oppose the return of the Arbuckle pictures," says H. M. B. of Boston. "He should be banned from public view for all time. Let him be seen again."

A letter from a "Lynn Movie Fan" defends the comedian and pleads for his quick return to the flickering films.

"Give him another chance," says this writer. "He is not half as bad as scores of people I know myself. Many of those against his return are the first to attend pictures of the vulgar type. They are inconsistent. Most of us want to see Fatty again, so stop this hypocrisy and let him come back."

Mrs. Tina Provost, of Providence, R. I., also joins in defense of the screen star. "What this world needs is a few more broad-minded people," she writes. "Fatty Arbuckle has been found innocent, and shouldn't that end the matter? I am in favor of letting his pictures appear again."

When you have't been for a long time, both naturally wonder what changes Time has wrought. Keep that schoolgirl complexion and he will say the years have left you unchanged.

Still—That Schoolgirl Complexion

When must beauty cease? Never, if you know how to keep it. The charm of beautiful maturity may rival that of early youth if wholesome, ever alluring freshness is not allowed to fade.

A firm, fine skin, smooth and free from blemishes, makes every woman seem young. Every woman can have such a complexion—the secret is simple, the means within the reach of all.

Cleopatra kept her youth

She reached the height of her fame and beauty when some women imagine they must fade and grow old, keeping her youthful charms and freshness by the same simple means which we recommend today.

Cometic cleanliness was a daily rite, and the cleansers employed were palm and olive oils. This kept her complexion fresh and smooth, stimulated to healthy functioning.

Most facial disfigurements result from clogging accumulations which collect on the skin, fill up the pores and cause coarseness, blackheads and blotches.

Wash your face every day and these ill won't afflict you.

Use gentle means. The kind of washing we mean is gentle, soothing, cleansing with the modern blend of palm and olive oils.

Its action is mild and the profuse creamy lather seems lotion-like. It leaves the skin wonderfully smooth and fresh while removing every trace of soil.

Such cleansing is most beneficial and prepares the skin for cold cream if you need it and the touch of rouge and powder most women use.

Neck, arms and shoulders should receive the same beautifying treatment, for they are conspicuous as the face for complexion beauty or the lack of it. Use Palmolive for bathing and let it do for your body what it does for your face. The price allows it.

Yours for 10 cents

This modest sum is possible through gigantic production which keeps the Palmolive factories working day and night and the importation of the bland mild oils at tremendous volume.

Thus this finest facial soap, which it melts in small quantities would cost at least 25 cents, is offered at the price of ordinary soap.

Cosmetics of Cleopatras. Without unguents, rouge and powder the queen of beauty used, cleansing with palm and olive oils was a daily rite.

POLICE HEAD IN SOCKE OUTS JOB

Providence, April 25.—Declaring he had reason to believe that gambling resorts and saloons intended to continue operating while open to the public passage of the prohibition enforcement act, Joseph W. Murray, member of the Wisconsin Police Commission, resigned today.

"My conscience will not let me hold office any longer under these conditions," he said. "I must go to my self-respect."

He sent his resignation to the Board of Aldermen, who held it until their next meeting.

The other two members of the board, John T. Letourneau, chairman, and Hugo Jarrett, refused to comment on Murray's act or his resignation.

While throughout the State breathed with relief today when it became known that Governor Baughman did not intend to sign the prohibition act until the latter part of the week.

This meant, of course, that the men who were given a reprieve and have a couple of more days in which to dispose of their goods. And they are taking full advantage of the privilege offered them.

Everything is wide open everywhere throughout the State, including the City of Providence. Whiskey, champagne, wine, and other liquors are being sold in the city. The liquor dealers in this city were notified today and every one of them presented himself before the bars was accommodated readily.

ALL BARS OPEN

Providence barroom whose doors have been locked to the outside for the past few days, were today only when the high signs were given, are doing a public business today.

For the liquor men know that as soon as Governor Baughman signs the bill the whole city will be dry with-out the hope that an oasis may be left to welcome thirsty travelers.

Bartender here, was on tap every-where. Bartender here could be had for the asking as long as the price was right. The choicest brands of American rye whiskeys and brandies were pulled out of their cases for the first time in many months. Many are experiencing the wettest day in its history.

Leaving Providence out of the reckoning, every other city and town in the State is in the wet. Last night, did a record-breaking business. Thornton, in the town of Johnston was in the absolute possession of Boston. Whiskey and mature men who had come down to Johnston Island on the chance that they might win something at the three races or the roulette wheel. They were not disappointed.

GAMBLING IN FULL BLAST

Notwithstanding the publicity of the past few days, the gambling joints were running full blast. A number of automobiles at the Union Station swarmed the arrival of the "gamblers' express" from Boston. As usual the Boston delegation was in charge of the same old steerage, Jack Leonard, one-time Boston baseball player.

They had not gone five feet from the Union Station before they were enjoying a glass of hot beer on a terrace, a drink of the hot whiskey. Although bound for either Cranston or Johnston they did not have to go dry on the way.

In the Providence Police Court thirty-two men were arraigned on charges of drunkenness. In Pawtucket, where everything is supposed to be as dry as an old shoe, there were twenty-two prisoners before Justice Zuck charged with intoxication.

Warren one of several men who came from Fall River to quench his thirst partook of some of the shine drank in that town. It gave him an appetite and led him to a Chinese restaurant. After eating chop suey a chemical reaction took place and he fell headlong down the stairs. Mr. John J. Convey pronounced him drunk and ordered him held for the police.

DRY OFFICERS HELPLESS

The five prohibition enforcement officers who should have been on duty to cope with the unusual conditions and failed. They could not be in their respective cities or towns at the same time. And for this reason all of them in the business were as far as they dared with the result that there was not a dry spot in Rhode Island.

It was especially wet at the old Palace and in Providence, the town of Johnston and the Plymouth City in the city of Cranston. The best in Rhode Island was none too good for the patrons of either place, especially those from Boston. Wines of rarest vintage were on hand. No one was the best kind of rye, Canadian or Scotch whiskey.

At the old Fenner Stand in Providence, known throughout New England as "Slattery's Den," the same old crowd were on the job notwithstanding the publicity of the past few days. John A. Tomney, manager of the place, was in the "Painkiller" street entrance acting as a reception committee. When his attention was called to it he turned in the local and Boston papers he obtained his shoulders and laughed it off. In the pool room, taking care as usual, were Tom Quigley, for many years to the Boston Globe, and "Red Bob" Martin, a strong voice and lungs never tired of shouting "come on, boys!" and in the roulette department, Warren Staples and Pat Kelly.

Badly Hurt When She Lost Grip in Giant Swing Act

THEMA DE RONO.

GIRL ACROBAT FALLS 25 FEET IN THEATRE

Singing out over the edge of the stage of the Bowdoin Square Theatre when she lost her grip while swinging a flying swing on a trap, Thema De Rono, vaudeville actress, dropped twenty-five feet into the orchestra.

With her feet locked in those of her partner, Thomas Callahan, who was hanging from the ropes by his hands, Miss De Rono started to swing out towards the audience. The girl struck the edge of the stage with the footlights and slid off as the musicians scattered. She was taken to the relief hospital, where she was in a comatose condition. The scene and confusion of the lower spinal region. She was taken to her home, No. 23 Butler street, East Boston.

Miss De Rono was also to take part in the performance this afternoon.

SUMMER POLICY INAUGURATED AT MAJESTIC

The Moorish Shubert inaugurated their Summer policy of vaudeville at the Majestic Theatre yesterday, that of presenting a musical revue, with new introductions in the course of the ever-changing scenes of the revue, of their well known vaudeville headliners.

The audience spent last evening here well pleased with the merry whirl of pretty girls, singers, dancers and mirth-provokers offered by the "Merry Ringers."

All of the various numbers were well received, especially the farcical conception called "The Wedding of the Sun and the Moon."

In this latter number, conceived and staged by Cleveland Browner, the introduction, through the poetry of motion and color, the passing of twenty-four hours.

Inspiration, acting behind the scenes of night. The number was visualized in human form, as are the sun-rays. The Lord of the Sun gave court to the Queen of the Moon. Their union marks the coming perfect day.

Hours pass and nightfall approaches. The medicine man appears to warn of the close of the day. The followers of the Lord of the Sun attempt to stay him, but find that he is their own chief. The sun gives out and the cycle of twenty-four hours.

The song numbers offered by Jean Grey, were a distinct hit, with comedians Sam Hearn and Harry Hinton and the audience in merry humor throughout the performance.

The Irish Brothers introduced some very dramatic force which their spectators by storm, and were obliged to respond to several encores.

THE WORLD NEWS AND COMMENT

"The Green Temptation" Paramount Production
Featuring Betty Compson
(Cast)

Genevieve Curran Betty Compson
Jeanne Page Edna Purviance
John Albany Mahlon Hamilton
Hugh Dwyer Edward Burns
Harquinn Theodore Kosloff
Vivian Neely Edwards
Molly Mary Thomson
Directed by William D. Taylor.
Adapted from story by Constance Skinner.

"The Green Temptation" being shown at the State Theatre this week, is a film to be thoroughly enjoyed. The story shows a number of lilies, but the thing of it has been done capably. It was, as a matter of fact, one of the last pictures directed by the late William D. Taylor, and shows that he was one of the finest of his craft. It need in no way be connected with Hollywood and the tales that have come from there.

A PETERBURY STORY.

"The Green Temptation" is the famous emerald that forms the nucleus of this detective story, in which Betty Compson, soon first as Genevieve, the Apache leader, later as Carolyn, the idol of the Pacific Northwest, and then as Jeanne Page, a Red Cross nurse. The story is engrossing, almost unconvincing.

Miss Compson is not, in my way of thinking, endowed with great ability to act. She is, however, a good actress, and is lovely to look upon, and has grace, a sense of timing, and a keen eye for the camera. With such tutoring as that of Theodore Kosloff and the Lady Directors she should go far.

Mr. Kosloff, seen as the Harbinger, over the bar for the second time, is an unusual waiting for her, has a remarkable sense of value and a sense of action. He is a good actor, with the Russian baller, Mahlon, as ever as cool and imperious, while Edward Burns, Neely Edwards and Mary Thomson form an adequate supporting company.

"PAY DAY"

Featuring Charlie Chaplin
Written and Directed by Him

The Teller Charlie Chaplin
The Fool Alvin Karpis
The Foreman Mack Swain
His Daughter Edna Purviance

After seeing "The Kid," one is disappointed in Chaplin's newest vehicle, "Pay Day." After seeing other comedians, one feels that "Pay Day" is a very nearly unobtainable. Here Chaplin has gone back to the old-fashioned, slapstick days of the pathos of feeling of "The Kid" there is a lot of the burlesque and the farce of "The Kid's Punctured Romance."

Quite the best of the film is the first half, that is to say, the first reel. Chaplin arriving late to work and finding a very noisy and noisy man with a pony and shy smile is a masterpiece. Chaplin, handed another's overcoat, tells the owner with it, putting it over his arm and showing another's suit coat instead, is priceless.

There is, however, a very funny, but Chaplin can do so better. Few others can do so well—accepting always Harold Lloyd. "Pay Day" is playing this week at the Modern, Beacon, Boston, Old South, Foster Street, Fenway Theatre, Loew's, Orpheum and Gordon's Oxygels.
